

HPL Advertisement for Blog

The Department of English currently has hourly-paid teaching opportunities in Early Modern and Victorian literature for 2022/23.

Early Modern Teaching

Semester One

Convene and teach a second-year module, 5AAEB066 Poetry of Revolution, including lectures and three 1-hour seminar groups (40 hours)

Semester Two

Convene and teach an MA option module, 7AAEM836 Contested Voices in Early Modern England (20 hours)

Victorian Teaching

Semester 1

Convene and teach a second-year module, 5AAEB024 Victorians and the Making of the Modern World, including lectures and two 1-hour seminar groups (30 hours)

Semester 2

Teach on a second-year module, 5AAEB041 Wilde Times: Aesthetics and Politics in the 1890s: two 1-hour seminar groups weekly

Convene and teach a first-year module, 4AAEA015 Ghosts, Vampires, Monsters and Werewolves: Writing the Uncanny in the Nineteenth Century: lectures and two 1-hour seminar groups (30 hours)

Convene and teach a third-year module, 6AAEC119 Raw Victorians: Race, Environment and Empire in Nineteenth-Century Literature: one 2-hour seminar weekly (20 hours)

Applicants will need to hold a Ph.D by September 2022 and have right to work in the UK. The payment is £21.27 per hour with two preparation hours for every classroom hour. The role will also include payment for office hours and marking.

To apply:

Please send a CV and short (750 words) statement to Becky Dean on english@kcl.ac.uk outlining the skills and experience you would bring to the role and which teaching you are interested in applying for. Any enquiries please contact Professor Anna Snaith, Head of English on anna.snaith@kcl.ac.uk. Closing date: July 19th 2022, 5pm.